Many of you may be familiar with Mark Twain's quote about the importance of travel, but odds are you have never seen it in its entirety, "Travel is fatal to prejudice, bigotry, and narrow-mindedness, and many of our people need it sorely on these accounts. Broad, wholesome, charitable views of men and things cannot be acquired by vegetating in one little corner of the earth all one's lifetime."

I think Mark Twain was right and it sums up the importance of the culturally focused work Tulsa Global Alliance (TGA) does every day, one handshake at a time. We welcomed 372 international visitors that traveled to Tulsa from 90 different countries and we involved almost 80 community partners in programming to educate them about our city and our country. That's a big deal. It also brought about a million dollars to our local economy.

We've also created great local partnerships. World in a Box Day with the Tulsa City County Library brought 800+ participants on a trip around the world through language, culture, music and food and is the culmination of their Summer Reading program. The event is the brainchild of Riya Kaul and was her Girl Scout Gold Award project. Her co-chair last year and this year's chair is Nate Ijams, a Booker T Washington student. August 3rd you can see it in person at Central Library.

Our Sister City of Amiens, France received at least two visitors from Tulsa because they won a trip through Philbrook Museum of Art's Innovative Impressions exhibit last summer. We paired with them to provide train tickets and some special additions to their itinerary. The partnership continues this year with their Wondrous Worlds: Art & Islam through Time & Place exhibit that opens soon and will award a trip to Casablanca, Morocco. We connected them with the Raindrop Turkish House and the Egyptian Consul that's coming for their opening.

Connection and collaboration. That's what TGA does. Connect people across the world through Global Ties. Connect and collaborate with community partners. Engaging people. One handshake at a time.

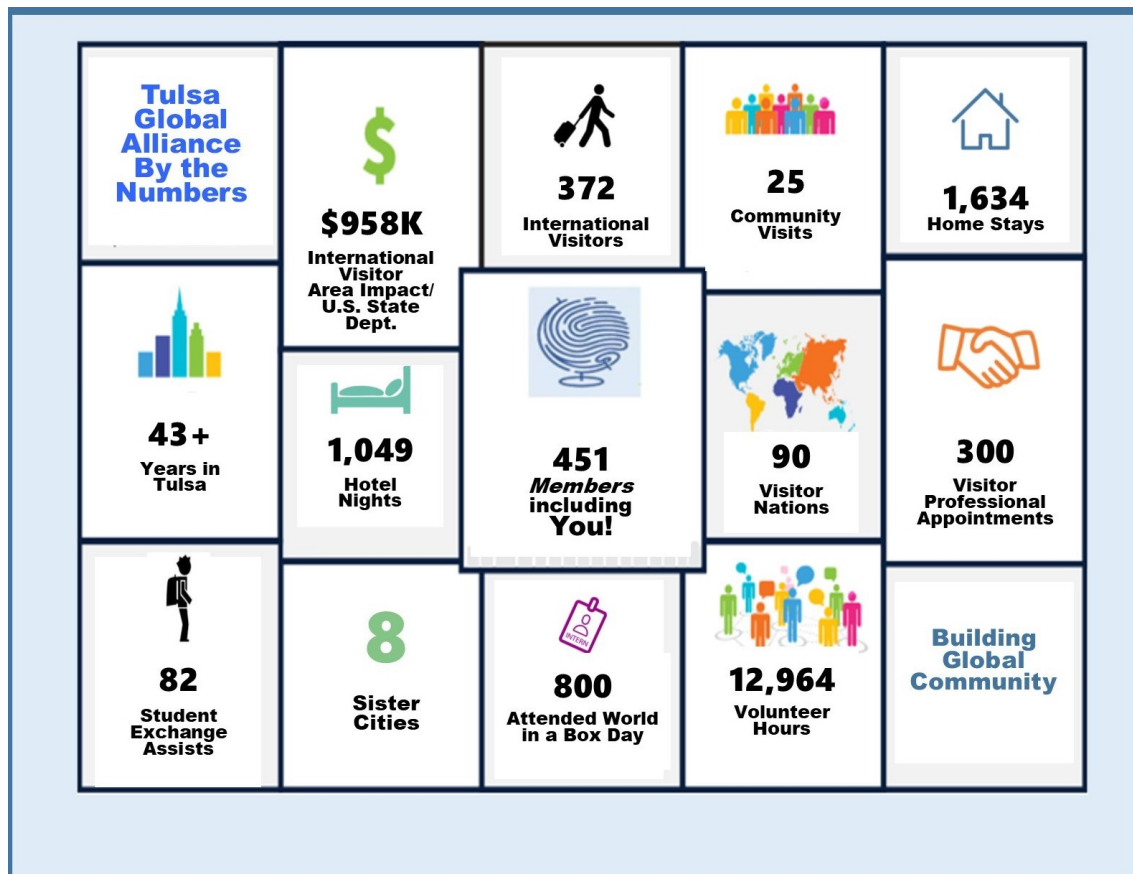

Thank you for being a part of it through board service, hosting a meal, hosting a person, driving someone, supporting TGA in any way. Your time, your effort and your money are well spent with this organization and I can never thank you enough for helping make our city more international.

Our Impact is Worldwide

Tulsa Global Alliance (TGA) is a multi-program, culturally focused, Tulsa-based non-profit with a mission to build global community. The work of TGA is, in the terms of the U.S. State Department, "citizen diplomacy." While diplomats must negotiate various treaties and responsibilities, it is the efforts of average Americans to build the friendships between nations that make win-win a possibility in international relations.

Through four key programs, TGA hosts international visitors, facilitates Sister City relationships, promotes global education and international trade relations, collaborates with international-focused organizations, and serves as a valuable resource for area governments, businesses, educational institutions, organizations, and residents.

A Moving Message from the Mayor of our Sister City of Celle, Germany

Dear Friends in Tulsa,

As Lord Mayor of your German sister city in the Tulsa Global Alliance, I write today to express our concern for all of you during the terrible flooding you are currently experiencing. The pictures remind us here of similar floods we have had in Germany in recent years, so many of us can clearly imagine the stress, upheaval and loss you are going through. The City of Celle administration and our Celle German-American Society join me in assuring you that we are thinking of you. If there is anything constructive we might be able to do to help out, please let us know.

Your sister city of Celle is with you in spirit!

With best regards,
Dr. Jorg Nigge

Tulsa - A Community Full of Global Partners

Our vision sees Tulsa as a vibrant community that thinks globally, acts globally, and connects globally. We are very fortunate to work with an array of community partners on our mission who assist us with advice and support, office and meeting space, co-programming, and friend-sharing among many other ways. TGA is grateful for our partners in government, business, education, the arts, and other fields for helping us bring citizen diplomacy to northeastern Oklahoma. Below are a few of our partnerships!

The Tulsa City Councilors are considered Honorary Sister City Ambassadors and engage with visitors for special greetings. In the past year, Councilors met with many Sister City delegates and with participants in the U.S. State Department International Visitor Leadership Program.
